Help! My Hair Is All Gone!

There are so many things to do. Housework, homework, away-from-home-work, schoolwork and church work all demand our attention. We have got to bring home the bacon, put it on the table, get the kids to the ballgame, get everything done around the house, spend time together as a family and find time for the Lord all on the same day. This probably does not even begin to describe your busy schedule. In a world full of things that need to be done, where do we go to get some sense of what to do first? How do we determine our priorities? Most of us just jump right in and overload ourselves. As a result we begin to get very nervous. The tension which results from this overload seems to correspond directly with the amount of hair on our heads. The more we overload ourselves, the more we pull out our hair in frustration. Finally we realize that we just cannot do it all. With this realization comes two choices: We can go crazy trying to keep up with the unhealthy pace we have set and be grouchy, mean, unsatisfied, unfulfilled and unhappy. Or, we can prioritize our lives to decide which activities are the most important and thus be happier, more fulfilled and much more satisfied with the direction we have taken. Jesus told His disciples to be "wise as serpents" (Matt. 10:16). How can we become wise? How do we go about the process of organizing and prioritizing our lives? Here are some suggestions that will help us get started.

1. Pray. This is the single most important thing that we do. We need guidance from the Lord, and He has promised to give it to us if we will only ask Him for it. We need to be as specific as we can, not for God's sake, but because it will help us to focus on exactly what we need to do and be asking for (James 1:5).
2. Seek wise counsel. Since we cannot know all that we need to know on every subject, we need to be searching for counsel from people we know who are wise.
3. Plan. Without an organized plan, even the noblest of ideas will fizzle out.
4. Prioritize. Once you have set your goals, decide which parts of your plan need your attention first. You may find that you need to streamline your objectives—maybe even cut something out (Matt. 6:33).
5. Act. Now that you have prayerfully and thoughtfully designed your plan, take action. Watch as some of your worries seem to disappear and your hair begins to grow back.

1. MISSIONARY OUTREACH THROUGH OUT YEAR-2012

Jesus said, "Go. And Preach the Gospel. JTM has been the platform for missions since 2002. In 2012 We became the partners of three missions to India. Pastor. Helen Cambra. and Pastor. Laura McCullough, from USA, Bro. Tom Stapleton from England, and Rev. Ralph Rutledge from Canada visited many places entire Andhra Pradesh through Jesus The Way Ministries. We ask your prayers this 2013 will also be the year many visits to India. We also request you to become partner of this great commission to India. God will provide you every resource to become missionary.

PASTOR'S SEMINARS

Encouraging a Poor Pastor means "winning souls" to the church. Pastors of India dedicated to live in remote, hill, tribal, rural villages to lead the sheep to Jesus. They live in small thatched huts, feed their family with rice juice. That's why, JTM committed from 10 years to conducting seminars and leadership classes to train Pastors. We provide them food, accommodation, travel charges for they can't afford expenditures. We conducted 6 pastor's seminars all over year 2012 through JTM. With small generous support of saints we help Pastors financially and conduct seminars. We looking for Monthly support to 26 Pastors associated with JTM. If you encouraged to support a seminar, it needs $250 (150 Pounds) for one seminar. You are invited for seminars in India.

Living Waters

remote and tribal villages. People can drink pure water and it give us an opportunity to reach them with the love of Christ and speak with them about the Salvation of God.

Do you believe my dear Saint, there are thousands villages in India that they don't have pure drinking water or need to walk miles together to bring drinking water?? "Living Waters" is the project we dedicated to provide "Drinking Water" by digging bore wells in the

We provided 3 Bore Wells in 2012. If you can encourage us to provide a Bore Well, it costs us almost $ 800- $1000.

But it provides a life long blessing for them and lead them to Jesus "The Living Waters" of life. We will provide you evidence of bore well of provision.

women skill centers

Women Skill Centers are the platform for "Women Empowerment" of rural and tribal church women. Most of them daily wage laborers. So skill development centers will give this unfortunate women a confidence on standing on their own income. This year 2012, we run 4 centers with each 3 months period of training. We trained almost 120 women and provided them certificates valid at least for getting loans to buy sewing missions and material provisions.
